rl Huns Back 1500 ards On Three Mile Front

TH THE BRITISH ARMY RANCE, June 28. — By the iated Press.—Field Marshal Hindenburg's troops east of orest of Nieppe got a nasty nexpected knock today when British suddenly drove for- in a surprise attack along a of more than three miles hurled the startled grey-coat- oldiers back to an average of 1,500 yards.

e operation was an unqualisuccess from its inception he attacking infantry reached heir objectives in remarkably time.

y this thrust the British not have greatly improved their ion in this important and -contested sector, which lies north of Merville but they ind heavy punishment on two le divisions that were holdthe line here—the 32nd di- of Saxons and the 44th re- division of Prussians."

rge numbers of the enemy killed in the hurricane onght, and some 260 of the fortunate had been collectn the prisoner cages before . The front of the attack was 0 yards in length and lay oximately between Vieux Beron the north and Pont Tourwhich is two thousand yards hwest of Merville, on the h.

est of Merville, the British German lines here had been med up almost against the e of the Nieppe forest in es, with the result that the ish felt a lack of elbow room operations. It was in order to ire more leeway that today's ult was projected.

he objectives settled upon lay g the winding little stream wn as Plate Becuue, which ed out toward the east in a i-circle back to the German es. Prussians and Saxons were ding this zone with a series of ng machine gun posts linked with barbed wire.

he first stages of the drive e comparatively easy. In fact the final objectives were reachwithout much difficulty. At strongly fortified farms near center of the line the enemy ght stubbornly but was unable stand out long against the furs onslaughts of the British o attacked them from all diions.

The losses among the storming aitry for the entire engagement re extremely light which was largely to the fact that it was r before the enemy was able organize serious resistance.

As a special feature of the pro- m Australian troops on the t of the columns carried out a mulated attack of their own ich had an amazing result add- nearly half a hundred prison- to the bag. The morale of prisoners taken today was not h. These men and others capred recently in this sector have peared to be much disheartenby their failure to get bigger sults in their offensive. They d expected to get ahead much ster than they have.

These men have professed to lieve that the United States was t going to be able to render uch assistance to the allies. The plessness of the United States being preached asidiously to the oops by the German high comand and this propaganda unoubtedly has been having its effct among the men in the enches.

With the German officers naturally it is different for they have o delusions on the subject.

British Make Successful Advance.

LONDON, June 28.—A successful advance of nearly a mile was made today by the British troops between Bailleul and Labasse, according to Reuter's British headquarters correspondent.

The correspondent says the captured ground lies at the most debatable point on the British front just west of the Bois d'Aval which forms the northeast angle of the Nieppe forest.

"The offensive was at a point where the enemy thrust was hardest in the Flanders battle in an effort to capture the forest which would have opened his way to Hazebrouck, the capture of which would have entailed our retirement from Ypres," says the correspondent. "The attack was launched at six o'clock this morning on a front of 6,000 yards from Vieux Bacquin to Pont Tournai, its objective being the line of the small stream called the Plate Becque, 1500 yards away. The objectives were completely attained and gave us valuable ground for future attacks. Some 300 prisoners and six machine guns were captured.

The text of the communication follows:

"This morning English troops carried out a successful operation on a front of about three and a half miles east of the Nieppe forest and more than three hundred prisoners and 22 machine guns have been captured. All of our objectives were gained, including the hamlets of L'Epihette, Verterue and LaBecque.

"The enemy was taken by surprise and our casualties were light.

"At the same hour Australian troops attacked and captured certain hostile posts west of Merris, together with forty-three prisoners and six machine guns. On the remainder of the British front the situation is unchanged."

Attempt to Cross River is Frustrated.

VIENNA, June 28.—via London.—The official communication issued by the war office today says:

"In Giudicaria, in the Argo basin and in the Adige Valley, the Italians are directing their ineffective destructive fire far behind our lines. In the Presena region several enemy reconnoitering attacks failed owing to the watchfulness of our occupying troops.

"On the Venetian Alps front the Col diRosso which was heroically held on the 26 and Monte di Valbella, situated to the west thereof, as well as the region west of Asiago were subjected to long continuous artillery and mine fires.

"On the Piave front a new attempt made by the Italians to cross the river near Fossalta was frustrated. The waters run high."

French Capture German Postions.

PARIS, June 28.—Southwest of Soissons French troops in an attack over a front of four and a half miles from the south of Amblemy to the east of Montgober, today captured German positions and at some points advanced their line to a depth of a mile and a quarter, says the French official communication this evening. Prisoners to the number of 1,060 thus far have been counted.

The communication follows:

"South of the Aisne we attacked this morning from the south of Amblemy to the east of Montgobert in order to acquire armed places on a seven kilometer front. We entered German works, took the fosses above Laversine and the heights northwest of Cutry and advanced our lines near the west of St. Pierre Aigle and also on the hill south of this village.

"Our advance reached at some points a depth of two kilometers. We have taken until now 1,060 prisoners."

On other sectirs also, between the Yser and the Marne, the artillery fire increased Thursday evening. The enemy's fire this morning increased to great intensity on both sides of the Lys between Bailleul and Bethune and south of the Aisne. Our artillery replied vigorously. Infantry engagements also developed on isolated sectors.

"Strong flying forces have been brought into action and led to violent aerial combats. Yesterday our aviators shot down 25 aeroplanes and one captive balloon and our anti-aircraft guns shot down five airplanes."

Twenty German Airplanes Destroyed.

LONDON, June 28.—Twenty German airplanes were destroyed by British aviators in airfighting over the western front Thursday, according to the British official communication dealing with aviation issued today. "A full day's work was done Thursday by our reconnaissance, photographic and artillery machines. There was some increase in hostile activity in the air and more fighting occurred.

Baker Orders Policing Of Canal Cities

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary Baker today instructed Major General Blatchford, commanding the department of Panama to take over the policing of the cities of Panama and Colon for the purpose of maintaining public order. The action resulted from information received at the state department from the government of Panama that grave disorders were expected because of the postponement of the national elections set for June 30.

Decision to postpone the elections for six months was taken by the government of Panama because of vice conditions in the two terminal cities of the Panama canal which had led to a boycott against them by the American army authorities. Opponents of the president of the republic recently protested to the state department against this decision.

R., aged 28 of Lexington, Ky., honored by King George of England for gallantry in action while serving with the Canadian forces, killed himself with a pistol here today. Nicholas And Family Are In Good Health

AMSTERDAM, June 28. — A Berlin despatch says that according to a telegram received from Kiev, a member of the Soviet government announced that the reports that former Emperor Nicholas had been brought before a revolutionary tribunal and that he had been assassinated, both are incorrect. The government added that Nicholas and his family were in good health.

No Confirmation

London, June 28.—At the Russian embassy it was declared today that no official confirmation had been received of the report that the former Russian emperor had been assassinated. If the report is true the crime is not a political one, according to the embassy officials, but merely an act of brutality on the part of an angry guard.

Gradual Weakening

Washington, June 28.—Recent rumors have indicated a gradual weakening for several weeks of the Bolsheviki government. This situation has been connected very intimately with the food crisis.

The state department today received word from Helsingfors that Swedish press reports from the Petrograd telegraph bureau under date of yesterday contained the rumor of the downfall of the Bolsheviki government and the capture of Moscow by Korniloff, Kalendines and German troops and of the proclamation of Nicholas Michaelovitch as emperor. The reports added that Helingfors awaited confirmation of the rumors.

Refuses to Assume Throne

Amsterdam, June 28. — The Wolff Bureau's advices say Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch of Russia is at Omsk and is heading an anti-Bolshevik movement. The grand duke, it is said, has refused to assume the throne preferring to leave the decision to an all-Russian popular assembly.

Former Emperor Safe

BASEL, Switzerland, June 28. Havas Agency.—According to local newspapers the Russian embassy in Berlin is reported to have advised the court at Darmstadt that Former Emperor Nicholas is safe.

Credit Reported Death

Amsterdam, June 28.—Western German papers just received here seem to regard the reports of the death of Nicholas Romanoff as authenic. The Russian newspaper Novaia Zhizn, edited by Maxim Gorky, is quoted by the Hahburg Fremdenblatt as printing a Kiev report that Nicholas while in a train with red guards complained against being transferred from Ekaterinburg to Moscow and that he got into a dispute with his escort and was murdered.

The despatch adds that the daughters of the former emperor were under guard in another coach and that the fate of the former empress and the former crown prince is unknown.

ARMY MEN ADVANCED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Most of Men are Serving in France and Selections are Those of General Pershing.

Washington, June 28.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the names of eight new major generals and forty three brigadier generals of the national army to fill vacancies now existing in the military service. Most of the men advanced in rank are now serving in France and the selections are those of General Pershing. Officers in this country were selected by General March, chief of staff, and in both cases the lists show the capabilities of the officer and not his seniority in the service governed his selection.

General Pershing's list includes two national guard colonels—Cornelius Vanderbilt and John H. Sherburne to be brigadier generals. The others are all regulars.

In making up his list of major generals, General Pershing showed his estimation of the services of his former chief of staff, Brigadier General James G. Harbord, who was recently assigned to command the marine brigade. It was a part of this brigade which figured in the fighting about Chateau Thierry, which has brought new honor to the marine corps. General March also has shown his appreciation of his chief assistant Brigadier General William S. Graves who has been closely connected with the development of the war army first as secretary of the general staff under Generals Scott and Bliss and later as first assistant to the chief of staff under General March.

CREDITED WITH NINE

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 28.—Lieutenant Paul Frank Baer, the American "ace" now a prisoner of war in Germany had brought down 17 enemy planes and was officially credited with nine before he was forced down inside the German lines May 22 last. Major William Thaw, commanding the 103rd Air Squadron said in a letter received from him today by Mrs. Emma Baer Dyer of this city, Baer's mother.

Major Thaw says that Lieutenant Baer has killed nine German flyers for which he was officially credited and that eight others were vouched for by other members of the squadron who saw them fall.

FALL AMENDMENT MEETS DEFEAT IN THE SENATE

Proposal to Extend Draft Age Limits is Rejected

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Immediate extension of the present army draft age limits, 21 to 31 years, was overwhelmingly defeated today in the senate. The amendment proposed by Senator Fall of New Mexico to the $12,000,000,000 army appropriation bill to make the limits 20 and 40 years and all compromises suggested for different minimums and maximums were voted down.

Settlement of the controversy, which has held senate atention for several days cleared the way for passage of the huge appropriation measure probably tomorrow.

Besides disposing of the draft age question the senate adopted several important amendments to the bill. One authorized organization of the $100,000,000 aircraft production corporation proposed by the aircraft production board, as a vehicle for co-ordinating aircraft production as ship building is co-ordinated by the shipping board thru the emergency fleet corporation.

Other amendments accepted authorize the new plan of basing draft quotas on the number of men in Class One, instead of state populations and affecting rights of neutrals, under the draft law. The senate previously had adopted the draft quota legislation, but it has been held up in the house.

The amendment affecting neutrals provides that citizens of neutral countries now subject to draft who have declared their intention of becoming American citizens shall not be eligible for citizenship if they claim exemption from the draft. This provision offered by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebrska, was adopted as a substitute for an amendment approved by the state department providing for exemption from the draft of all citizens of neutral countries.

The question of extending the draft age limits occupied almost all of the senate session. A proposal by Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, that the present minimum age limit of 21 years be substituted for the twenty year minimum of the Fall amendment was rejected, 41 to 33, as was one by Senator Weeks of Massachusetts to make the maximum age 35 years instead of 40. Proposals by Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut to reduce the minimum age to 18 years also was defeated and by Senator New of Indiana to make military training of youths between 20 and 21 compulsory were also defeated.

How Senators Voted.

When the vote finally was reached on the Fall amendment the senate lined up as follows:

For the amendment:

Republicans: Brandegee, Calder, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Fall, France, Freelinghuysen, Gallinger, Hale, Kenyon, Lenroot, Lodge, McCumber, Nelson, New, Norris, Poindexter, Sherman, Smoot, Sterling and Wadsworth—23.

Total for, 25.

Against the amendment:

Democrats: Ashurst, Bankhead, Beckham, Chamberlain, Fletcher, Gerry, Gore, Guion, Hardwick, Henderson, Hitchcock, Hollis, Kendrick, King, Kirby, Lewis, McKellar, Martin, Myers, Nugent, Overman, Phelan, Pittman, Pomerene, Ransdell, Robinson, Shafroth, Sheppard, Shields, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of South Carolina, Thomas, Thompson, Trammell, Underwood, Vardaman and Wilfiey—39.

Republicans: Borah, Fernald, Gronna, Johnson of California, Knox, McNary, Penrose, Smith of Michigan, Sutherland and Warren—10.

Total against, 49.

Handled With Kid Gloves.

In the final effort of those advocating immediate legislation, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, advocated immediate organization of an army of 5,000,000 men, which Chairman Chamberlain of the military committee declared was impossible. Senator Warren of Wyoming, senior Republican member of the military committee declared congress was handling the draft question with "kid gloves and not bare handed," and that 18 to 45 age limits are necessary.

Among minor amendments written into the bill by the senate was a provision that lack of college education shall not deprive men of positions in the aviation service. Another amendment would require factory owners to whom enlisted men are assigned in making war materials to pay them regular wage scales, with their army pay suspended during their industrial employment.

PLAYERS TRANSFER.

Kansas City, Mo., June 28.—Pitchers Robert Steele and Carman Hill of the Pittsburgh National League club will at once come to the Kansas City club of the American association in return for Roy Sanders, Kansas City pitcher who was sent to Pittsburgh last year. In addition Kansas City will keep Alec McCarthy, captain, who has been playing with the local club this season.

WAR SUMMARY

News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

The British troops in Flanders and the French forces further south apparently have anticipated the purposed German drive toward the English channel ports or Paris and struck first.

Altho slight details of the manoeuvres thus far have been revealed the allied troops caught the enemy unawares at salient points and driving swiftly forward, took terrain which would have been considerable value as the starting of enemy attacks. In addition a comparatively large number of prisoners and machine guns were left in the hands of the allied troops.

The attack of the British was delivered about midway between Hazebrouck and Bethune on a front of nearly three and a half miles over territory which the Germans recently have been deluging with shells. Altogether, the attack was productive of an average gain of ground to a depth of nearly a mile and included the taking of several small hamlets. It is not improbable that the Germans in a proposed offensive in this region had set their hearts on the capture of St. Omer and the railway line running thence to Calais and Dunkirk.

The stroke of the French troops was over still greater front—four and a half miles—and they at points, also penetrated enemy positions to a goodly depth, at some points a mile and a quarter. The evident intention was further to block the gateway to Paris thru the Villers-Cotterets region.

From Amblemy to the east of Montgobert the French carried out their offensive and overwhelmed strongly fortified positions of the enemy along the entire front. Besides the beating back of the enemy, more than 1,060 Germans fell into the hands of the attacking force. Altho the points of attack were separated by one hundred miles the manoeuvers seemingly had been well considered by General Foch, the allied commander-in-chief as they were carried out synchronously. The strategy of the double stroke is apparent when it is realized that a successful German thrust where the British struck would have menaced the channel ports or a similar move in the south would have placed the French capital in jeopardy.

The Berlin official communication issued Friday evening made note of the allied thrusts by declaring that the Germans were busily engaged in attempts to repulse them.

That the allied forces are not to be caught napping by the Germans is indicated by the intensive aerial operations that are in progress over and behind the battle line. A British official communication says that in air fighting Thursday twenty nine enemy airplanes were accounted for twenty of them having been destroyed and the other forced to descend out of the control of British pilots. Fourteen machines of the British failed to return to their bases.

There is considerable fighting between the Austrians and the Italians in the mountain regions of the Italian theatre, but comparative quiet prevails along the Piave river, across which the enemy was driven by the Italians early in the week.

Unofficial reports are to the effect that troubleous events again are in progress in Russia. The Bolshevik government in Moscow is said to have been overthrown by forces under the leadership of General Korniloff and Kaledines.

Moscow is said to have fallen and Trotzky and Lenine, the leaders of the Bolshevik government are declared to have fled across the Gulf of Finland toward the Murman coast. Another report is that Grand Duke Nicholas has been proclaimed emperor.

The reports that former Emperor Nicholas has been put to death or assassinated persist but there still is no official confirmation of them.

He formerly was a captain of Philippine scouts. He died in the Oak Park hospital of a fractured skull. The two car limited train, bound for Elgin was filled with suburbanites homeward bound. The train was bowling along at a good speed when the crash came. The impact smashed the front vestibule of the smoker, the forward car of the train and trapped and crushed to death Motorman Dunlap.

The dead and seriously injured were caught in the forward car and crushed by the smashed timbers as the front end of the car was flattened backward by the blow as the train struck the heavy automobile truck with its tons of crushed stone. Most of the passengers in the rear car escapea with cuts and bruises and a shaking up.

The automobile truck owned by a road construction firm in Chicago carried a driver and helper, but both escaped severe injury.

It was said the motor of the truck stalled on the tracks squarely in the way of the approaching limited.

People of Elmhurst and the nearby countryside, doctors and village officials were soon on hand. Automobiles and ambulances were quickly lined up and the injured rushed to the Oak Park and West Suburban hospitals.

The bodies of the three killed were taken to a local undertaking room where Coroner William V. Hopf, of Wheaton, soon arrived. Two unconscious unidentified victims, reported dangerously hurt and Private Jauch, said to be seriously injured were taken to Oak Park hospital.

Others injured were taken to West Suburban hospital. Among them was George Kranz, said to be seriously hurt. The extent of injuries of the others could not be determined tonight.

It is interesting to note that the shortage of firemen is not characteristic of smaller c ities alone. Insurance underwriters are now demanding that 300 additional firemen added to the fire fighting force in Chicago.

Watch a group of entraining soldiers or get in touch with any war time activity and you are impressed with the thought how very trivial all else is these days by comparison with war interests.

This plan is respectfully referred to the board in charge of Central park. Out in Colorado city a man who owned the corner lot and was annoyed by pedestrians crossing it, planted a garden and then posted this sign: "This is a war garden. All Pro-Germans are invited to walk over it." The owner's troubles were over and the garden has been permitted to grow and flourish. A war garden in Central park might even restrain the people on the Fourth of July, when an enormous crowd is expected in the public square.

WHO WANTS A RED CROSS FLAG?

The Red Cross has offered for sale three Red Cross flags, the first flags, other than the Stars and Stripes, to fly from the dome of the national capitol. Two, autographed by Vice-president Marshall and Speaker Clark have been given the Chicago and New York Chapters of the Red Cross, and are held a a minimum of $10,000 each. The third, which bears the autograph of President Wilson in addition, is in the hands of H. B. F. Macfarland, vice-chairman of the District of Columbia Red Cross chapter, to whom bids should be sent.

There three flags flew beside the Stars and Stripes over the National Capitol during the second Red Cross Drive.

THE EXPRES MERGER.

The American Railway Express Company is the official name of the new corporation which today takes over the operation of the express business on virtually all the railroads of the United States. The merger embraces all of the prominent express companies heretofore doing business, and was brought about as a war time measure and in formity with a plan laid down by the Federal Government.

Henceforth shippers will direct their shipments "by express" without regard to company, and before many days the individual names of the several companies, such as the Adams, American, Wells-Fargo, Southern, Great Northern and others, will begin to disappear from wagons, stations and cars.

The American Railway Express Company is to serve as the express carrying agency of the railroads, operating privately, but under contract to turn over 50 per cent of their gross revenuee—amounting to more than $250,000,000 a year—to the roads for transportation privileges.

This plan of handling the express business on the 257,000 miles of railroad in the United States makes possible the elimination of duplicated facilities, the shortening of express routes and better service to the government, and to the public.

NOISE IS NOT PATRIOTISM.

This year of all others is the time for a safe and sane Fourth of July celebration. Independence Day with the nation at war should be a thoroly patriotic observance. The old-time riot of noise, death, fire and destruction, which was supposed to show patriotism, would be very much out of place under present conditions. The country needs the powder, and it needs to protect the life and limb which were sacrificed in the former observance, and the millions of property which regularly went up in smoke and flame.

The Sane Fourth movement has made remarkable progress in the past few years, and this year should see the end of the old absurdity of celebrating the nation's birthday with pistols and crackers, with their inevitable accompaniment of racing ambulances and clanging fire engines. The deaths from Fourth of July casualties, which were 466 in 1903, had been reduced by 1917 to 11, while the injuries, which were 3,983 in the first year, fell last year to 196. Formerly the firemen expected to be kept on the jump all day on the Fourth, but for several years, in Chicago and other cities where fireworks have been prohibited, the number of alarms has actually been below the daily average.

With this record it should hardly need the recommendations of the State Councils of Defense and the Fire Marshals to secure municipal orders and individual co-operation against the use of explosives on the Fourth. The United States is likely to burn powder enough this year without wasting any of it on Independence Day. Its list of dead and wounded in the cause of liberty will be long enough without adding to it in an antiquated and absurd observance of the Fourth of July. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT.

Every community in Illinois will be able to get a message from President Woodrow Wilson on July Fourth Wherever there is a meeting in celebration of the nation's birthday it should be read. The message is to be given out thru the Four Minute Men. They will read it at all meetings they are asked to attend. Official announcement of the forthcoming message is made by the State Council of Defense in a special bulletin sent to all local Neighborhood, County Auxiliary and Neighborhood Committee, as follows:

"In State Council Bulletin No. 18, it was requested that in connection with the exercises on Independence Day some message from President Wilson to the people should be read.

"The Council of National Defense announces that the Four Minute Men have secured from our President a message and a suggestion for an address designed for that particular occasion. The State Council of Defense, therefore, requests that in such celebration as you are planning for that day, your program should include the reading of that message.

"It it is widely known that a communication directly from the President of the United States to the people will be read for the first time on that day it should insure the attendance of every patriotic soul.

"Neither the message nor its purport should be published until July 5th.

"Kindly get in touch with your Four Minute Men and arrange to have the message read at all meetings in your county."

THE HARVEST.

The wheat will soon be ready, thruout the golden west, for workers strong and steady to come and do their best; the long green fields are turning yellow, in the sun, and, viewing them, we're learning how we shall can the Hun. The wide, wide fields are golden, as grateful to the eyes, as in the ages olden was manna from the skies. For wheat means more than giving a pampered people bread; it's triumph for the living, and vengeance for the dead. The wheat from all these regions where reapers soon will sing, will feed our fighting legions, and balk the kultur king. Oh, workers, come rejoicing, and bind the golden sheaves, a song of gladness voicing, and not as one who grieves. Oh, toiler, tread the stubble, like victor proud and strong, nor think the task a trouble because the hours are long. As much as men with sabres, you fight the Teuton knaves, so blithely face your labors, and not like galley slaves. So to the wheat fields journey as gay as knights of old, who hastened to the tourney on fields of cloth of gold. With courage of the stoic, into the harvest prance; there's nothing more heroic on all the fields of France.

COUNTY'S LARGEST CONTINGENT OFF FOR TRAINING CAMP

Nearly Three Hundred of "Best and Bravest" Entrained Friday—Imposing Ceremonial At Opera House Followed by Parade—Men and Their Relatives of Good Courage.

The greatest "going away and safe return" meeting for soldiers that Morgan county has ever seen and possibly will ever see, took place in Jacksonville Friday. To entrain a company of nearly 300 young men was no small undertaking and the occasion was significant in many ways. The registrants were required to assemble at the court house at 8 o'clock in the morning, when they were inducted into the army service.

Many of the relatives of the young men from country precincts came with them, so that an unusually large number of people was in the business district thruout the entire day. The great mass of detail in connection with the leaving of the men was handled by the local board and assistants with such efficiency and care that the men boarded the train in fine form and the necessary papers and records were in the hands of the chief orderly. Only one man out of the large number summoned failed to appear and it is quite probable that he failed to receive his notice, as he has not been heard from for a number of weeks.

Great Throng at Station.

The opera house was by no means large enough to hold the audience and there were thousands of people aoout the building and on the public square. The program at the opera house as arranged by the local board was indeed appropriate. The parade which moved to the Chicago & Alton station was imposing and no one could look upon the great mass of humanity assembled at the station and not be impressed with the thought that the people as a whole are responding in the most noble and patriotic way to the call of their country today. In so large a company, with so many leave-takings, it was inevitable that there should be some tears but in the main it was notable that the relatives of the young men exercised the finest self-control and sent their boys away with smiles and cheers, and reserved any tears that may be shed for the hours after the leaving of the train.

At the opera house about the only thing lacking was space and none of it went to waste. The local board had invited members of various patriotic organizations and members of bodies associated in war work to occupy seats on the platform, and it was a matter of regret to the board that there were not enough seats for all.

A Cheerful Chairman.

Miller Weir, chairman of the local board, called the imposing assemblage to order and after brie opening words introduced Dr. Carl E. Black of the board to preside, stating that Dr. Black had been especially chosen because of his cheerful spirit and his optimistic viewpoint. Mr. Weir said that the occasion was one that demanded a cheerful atmosphere—one that would reflect the spirit of the American people and the good news which has in these latter days colored the dispatches from abroad. Mr. Weir took the occasion to mention that arold J. Johnson as manager of the opera house was showing his patriotism by providing the opera house without charge for war time meetings. He said Mr. Johnson had been declared by both medical board and advisory board not physically fit for active war service and so had been assigned to limited service. The statement was made to correct an erroneous impression about Mr. Johnson.

Dr. Black as chairman, spoke only briefly as he had plenty to do in keeping the constantly changing program moving and was busy in the endeavor to crowd a three hours' program into two hours. The chairman laid special emphasis upon the point that Germany has proven and the U. S. army has declared that the morale of the army is in fact the morale of the people at home. This means that as the people at home are cheerful, buoyant and unceasing in their patriotic effort, that so will the men at the front go on with their tasks in a buoyant spirit. Cheery news from home is the most encouraging influence for a soldier, and Dr. Black related the incident of an officer at a western army camp who was known to have been driven to a nervous breakdown because of the strain of the tearful and nerve-racking letters that he received from thoughtless relatives at home.

Interspersed with the patriotic speeches were solos by the best known musicians of Jacksonville and in commenting upon the fact that it was possible to have upon the program such musicians as Mrs. Helen Brown Read, Mrs. William Barr Brown, Mrs. A. R. Gregory and Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard, the chairman said that it was a conspicuous fact these days that all people are doing in war work just whatever they are asked to do. There are no refusals and everybody wants to measure up fully with the duties of the day and hour.

An Army Officer's Message.

The audience found special pleasure in hearing a brief statement from Lieut. G. W. Stephens of Camp Taylor, who was sent by the government to Jacksonville to take general charge of the movement of troops to camp. Lieut. Stephens, who is an attorney of Madison, Wis., and a graduate of Wisconsin university, and is attached to the 3rd battalion, 159th depot brigade, brought pleasure to the hearts of the relatives and friends of the new soldiers when he declared that Camp Taylor is the best in the United States and when he made the further statement that each man who enters the army is furnished everything in equipment that he can possibly need and the arrangements for daily life in camp are the best known to military service.

Then the lieutenant gave a message to the relatives when he declared it their duty to make farewells to the men easy, to send them away with cheers and smiles. He declared, too, that the relatives should be proud indeed that they and the departing young men were able to render this service at such a time.

The program of the afternoon began with prayer by Dr. F. M. Rule and then the audience joined in singing America, led by the musicians who had part on the program and the group of young women constituting the canteen unit. Mrs. Helen Brown Read sang with splendid strength "The Trumpet Call" and as an encore "The Home Road."

"The Boys Are Coming Back"

Then the chairman introduced Lieut. Wesley James of Co. C., Illinois state militia. He was presented as a veteran of the Spanish-American war and made a brief address which was replete with patriotic esntiments and again and again touched a responsive chord with the audience. Based on his own military experience, Lieut. James made several helpful suggestions to the men who are just entering the service. When he said that Co. C would escort the new soldiers to the train and would be at the station when the men return from overseas service, the new soldiers and the audience joined in great applause. "You are all coming back", the speaker said, "You must get that in your minds first of all, and you can be assured that the men of Co. C are with you wherever you go. The men of this company, according to the government's present rules, are too old for military service outside the state, but they will attend to all the affairs at home while you are winning the war for liberty and gaining laurels for yourselves."

A Notable Gathering.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp, who was presented as the president of a college which is the second in the land in the per cent of its contribution of men to the war. Dr. Rammelkamp said: "This is indeed the most notable gathering that this war has seen and I doubt if there will be any more conspicuous gathering in the years to come. I do not purpose to say words of tender farewell. That is for you and those who are your nearest kin. But I do voice the collective greetings of all the people and wish in their behalf for you a godspeed in the great task that you are undertaking with such cheerful spirit. This service that you are just entering indeed offers broad opportunities. There is first of all the opportunity for travel. You are going to see parts of your own country well worth while and then you will have the opportunity of travel in the countries of Europe, and travel is broadening and educating. Army service gives the chance of physical development and you will come back from the war in more perfect physical condition.

Service Gives Opportunities.

"The service affords the opportunity also for mental and moral development. Because you are in the service you should be more efficient men as you come into contact with the efficient methods of the nation that this war has developed. Just what you will do with these opportunities is a question that you must decide. And if you measure up to these opportunities and take advantage of them you will return and be the leaders among men in the years to come. I doubt if we older men fully realize how much of leadership will be yours after the days of the war are over. So our hope for you today is that as you are fighting the battles of the war for us and for humanity, that you may make the most of your opportunities for yourselves."

Mrs. William Barr Brown then sang "When the Boys Come Home," and as an encore, "The Long Trail." Both selections were sung in a way which brought the enthusiastic approval of the audience.

The Big Brother Thought.

W. D. Doying, secretary of the board, talked very briefly, presenting the big brother thought. Mr. Doying said in part: "Keep your bodies and minds clean. Suppose we change that a little and say—Keep your minds clean. If you make a good job of doing that your bodies will be kept clean too. Use common sense—horse sense, if your prefer to call it that—on every question and situation and problem that may confront you. Don't try to divide it, using a little here and a little there—but use all of it every time. The more you use it the faster and better it will grow.

"Parents, big brothers and sisters—and others—must do their part, too, to help keep the boy's minds clean. Don't write the boys in the training camp or to the front a lot of hard luck stuff. This war has made soldiers of all of us, and those remaining behind to keep up the supplies must be as clean and efficient as they expect the boys at the front to be."

The chairman then voiced his special pleasure in being able to present to the audience Lieut. G. W. Stephens and the chairman also commented upon the excellence of the plan that the government has adopted in sending a trained officer to accompany large contingents of men to the army camp. The cheering message by Lieut. Stephens has already been mentioned above.

A further contribution to the splendid musical program of the afternoon was given by Mrs. A. R. Gregory, who sang, "The Marseillaise". Dr. Black mentioned that the selection was especially appropriate since the French people are soon to celebrate the Fourth of July. Mrs. Gregory was given an encore but because of the lateness of the hour did not sing another selection.

The Final Charge.

Then Mr. Weir gave the final charge to the new soldiers, declaring in the name of the president that these men contitute an honor to Morgan county and to the government. "You are picked men," the speaker said, "and we know that you will not fail us at this time—that in the days to come you will measure up fully to your duties. We know nothing of the draft these days. Ours is simply a selective board and you are as much volunteers as the men who went into the war of the '60s. You are going into a new life. Your destiny is before you. We have confidence in you and we have confidence that a divine providence will sustain and protect you and bring you back safely in due course of time. You will fight bravely, we know, for the cause of your country and for the great principles of liberty and democracy.

"We older men cannot see you go without some feeling of envy, as we realize that we cannot have the active part in this great conflict that falls to your lot."

Then the roll was called by Adjutant Green and the men responded and stood at attention. With Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Read and Mrs. Gregory leading, the audience joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and the impressive opera house service was thus concluded.

Imposing Parade.

The parade then formed under direction of Chief Marshal Major C. E. McDougall, with Hart H. Massey, T. H. Buckthorpe and L. S. James as aides. The new soldiers had a group picture taken by Otto Spieth as they stood near the Ayers National bank building. The parade then moved along the west side of the square and down East State street, the various persons and organizations taking part as already indicated. At the station members of Co. C., with rifles formed a cordon marking off the space necessary for the entraining men and their baggage. Only a few relatives of departing men were in this reserved space, as most of the farewells had been said earlier. Considering the vast crowd and the large number of men entraining, the movement of the troops was rapid indeed, and in a comparatively short time the long special train started on the journey to Camp Taylor. There were several empty coaches and these were later filled by the men entraining at Carrollton and Jerseyville. The special train is carrying nearly 700 men to Camp Taylor.

The Liberty band and the newly organized Jacksonville drum corps furnished the music for the parade. W. D. Doying and Adjutant Green accompanied the soldiers as far as Roodhouse and returned on the later train. All of the men answered to roll call and left on the train except Bedford Proffit, whose last known address was Tompkinsville, Ky. The contingent included approximately 290 men. Cleon Bell was the chief orderly and the assistant orderlies were as follows:

THE RULING PASSION.

Some years ago Dr. Henry Van Dyke of literary and diplomatic fame wrote a book, "The Ruling Passion." In it the author gave word character pictures of some Americans whom he had known and the dominant thought in their lives. If the author were penning that book today he would find but one passion dominating the American mind, for patriotism has become "the ruling passion."

In times of health people seldom think about sickness; in days of plenty they think nothing of adversity; in times of peace the thoughts of war are almost entirely absent from the mind Tucked away in the hearts of most of us there has been all along a deep love of country— a full appreciation of the meaning of liberty and democracy—but we said very little about them. Then came the realization that the great iron hand of autocracy was reachinf out to take these things that we somewhat loved and appreciated, and behold our patriotism burst into a flame.

We all became patriots overnight and today it can be truthfully said that all all true Americans are soldiers. Young and old, rich and poor, men and women, we are all soldiers in one department of service or an other—all, or nearly all, anxious to measure up fully to duty.

The Morgan County lads who left yesterday for the training camp will enter one kind of service. Many of them will eventally doubtless go overseas and have the honor of actual participation in the war now being waged for liberty and humanity. Later they will return—many of them—with the imperishable honors of victorious war.

There are other kinds of service and those who remain at home have their part to perform, for as the chairman of the great meeting at the opera house yesterday declared, the morale of the troops at the front is measured by the morale of the people at home. No finer exhibition of the strength and stamina of the people at home" could be furnished than that of yesterday when mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, wives and sweethearts, as they said goodbye and farewells, had for the most part cheers and smiles in place of tears True, there were choking voices and some visible signs of emotion, but in the main whatever of regret or sorrow the patings brought was repressed, for the people had evidently determined that they would send their boys away in answer to the call of duty with cheers as the recollection of the leave-taking.

The morale of the people at home in Morgan county made a good showing in the early days of the war, when the rulings of the local board and every act of the government was given such ready support, and this morale has continued to improve as the days have gone by, instead of showing signs of weakness. Yes, indeed, the people of this community and of most communities in the United States, are behind their troops at the front. And that very home srength is going to make those troops invincible and help maerially in sounding the knell of kaiserism.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS IN NEW QUARTERS

Sunday morning services at 11 o'clock will mark the opening of the new quarters of the Christian Science church in the building they recently purchased and remodled in the 500 block, West States street. The building was the former home of the late Alfred Hayden, and has now been remodled so as to make a good auditorium and reading room on the first floor. As yet the second floor is not being used, but a little later the church expects to use this also. After tonight the former reading room in the Ayers building will be removed to the new headquarters. The regular services will be carried out as usual Sunday. Several from nearby towns have sent word that they will be here to attend the opening services.

RTAILED BUILDING FOR HIGH SCHOOL

n connection with the high ool site and bond election to held next Monday, it has been gested by a number of citi- s that in the building of a ool at this time that some struction plan be adopted ich can be adopted which can added to at a later date. This gestion has come from busi- s men because they believe t the board should take some ught of the future in provid- the school facilities, and they remember that it is a very ensive time to erect a build- of the kind needed. It would ily cost double to erect a ool building now by compar- n with the possible figure of r or five years ago. The busi- s men who suggest a unit n of construction believe that school board with proper ad- e could follow a plan of archi- ture which would take care the needs of the school for t year or two, and later facili- s could be added without dis- bing the architectural sym- try of the whole.

At the present time the aver- business man who contem- tes any large building enter- se, after investigations of ces and quotations, deter nes to curtail his plans to ne extent—to get along with ilities that under normal nes he would not count as ite adequate, but which he siders now as advisable for mediate and temporary use. plying the principles of pri- te business to this public build- matter, these business men ke the view of the situation ggested. It is readily under- od that the board has full au- thority for the levying of suffi cient funds for the erection of a school building and it is simply a question of just how extensive the immediate building operations should be.

HERE'S A REAL PATRIOT.

The U. S. Employment Service bulletin gives this statement about a minister who has earned the title of "A Simon Pure Patriot."

There are different ways of showing one's patriotism. One of the easiest is the wearing of a uniform, for the khaki or navy blue makes it atent to all who see the wearer that he is in his country's service.

But the country needs more than fighters. It needs men for the industrial army, and it especially needs men for the unskilled work in the shipyards, munition plants, and other war industries. Today the man who volunteers for pick-and-shovel work in an essential industry is as much a patriot as the man who volunteers for the Army. Perhaps, in the last analysis, he is more so, for he gets no public glory and only hard work.

Among the thousands of letters received by the Employment Service last week was this gem. It comes from a western clergyman, and for an example of simon-pure patriotism it deserves first mention:

"In this critical time for our country I feel impressed that we able-bodied ministers can be more useful in our country's service than by doing the routine work of our churches. So I am offering my services in your department of unskilled labor for the place where you can best use me. I have had oversight of ware-houses and have done stock-clerk work, and am ready for further orders."

FORMER RESIDENT VISITOR HERE.

Mrs. Hubert C. Ferris of Portland, Ore., better known here as Annabel Markoe, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Barr. Mrs. Ferris, who will be here for a number of days and possibly weeks, has just returned from New York City where she went on account of the illness of her son Allen, who is in the U. S. Navy. Altho he is but twenty years of age he is soon to be mustered out after four years' enlistment. He entered the service in Portland and much of the time has been on the Pittsburgh.

Just as he was about to start for France a few weeks ago he was taken down by spinal meningitis and was in a New York City hospital, where his mother went to be with him. He is now in the navy hospital for convalescents at West Plains, N. Y., and will probably be able to go to his western home in the course of a few weeks for a needed period of re-cuperation. It is the young man's intention to re-enlist in the navy.

RALPH LINKINS AT SOUTHERN CAMP.

Ralph Linkins, brother of Mrs. Edward Bowe, is among young men known in Morgan county who have recently entered the army service. He is at Camp Wheeling, Ga., where he went with men from Champaign. Altho Mr. Linkins entered the service as a private without any effort to secure special work or a commission, the government will no doubt take advantage of his training. He has specialized for years in scientific work and took his master's degree some time ago at the University of Illinois.

The past year he was at the head of the department of zoology at Norman university and leaves a highly salaried position for army service. It is said that at the time Ralph Linkins filled out his questionnaire it was suggested that he make application for a special line of work but he refused and declared that he wanted to enter the army service and do the work of the average soldier.

WAVERLY BANNER DISTRICT IN COUNTY

Sister City's School District Goes Over Top with a Total of $36,000—Quota was $18,000—Prairie College Tops Country Districts—Other Reports.

Waverly School District No. 1 with a quota of $18,000 and a total subscription of $36,000 topped all districts outside of Jacksonville in the War Savings stamp drive in the county which closed Friday evening.

The speakers of the evening were Rev. Mr. Schaffer of Waverly, Rev. Father Smith and Rev. W. E. Keenan of Franklin. The last two named have been very active in this work and probably have been the means of securing more subscriptions than anyone else in Morgan county. W. R. Turnbull is the chairman of the district and has taken an active interest in the War Stamp drive.

Ebenezer Makes Good Showing.

At Ebenezer school Ed Houston president of the school board presided at the War Savings stamp meeting. Tho the roads were bad because of the rain Friday there was a good attendance and subscriptions amounting to $7,200 were received. The quota for the district was $4,400.

Routt School Triples Quota.

At Routt school an exceptional record was made. There were 22 present at the meeting and the sum of $9,800 was subscribed, the quota being $3,100. There are only sixteen families in the district and four are yet to report and those in charge are confident that the total will reach $12,000.

Liberty Goes Over Also.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter E. Spoonts were at the War Savings Stamp meeting at Liberty school Friday evening. Dr. Spoonts was the principal speaker and the amount of subscriptions was $11,690. Eight maximum War Savings Stamp memberships were secured.

Banner Country District

In the final drive for Morgan County's quota of War Savings Prairie College school located southeast of Pisgah supplanted College Grove as the banner county district of the county with a total of $27,320.

The total for College Grove was $21,000. This stood until last night when O E. Tandy who made the principal address and solicited subscriptions for stamps received pledges totalling $23,820. James H. Grade, rural carrier in the district had previously received subscriptions for $3,500. This made the total $27,320 or just three times the quota which was placed at $9,100.

The subscriptions last night gave Mr. Tandy a total of $85,200 which has been subscribed at meetings where he spoke. His effort last night was said by those who heard it to be a splendid one and it must have been judging from results attained. Among the subscriptions were 14 for $1,000 each

James G. Strawn took Mr. Tandy to the school in his car and found the roads in good condition with the exception of the last three quarters of a mile when he encountered a lot of mud.

Prairie College.

At Prairie College Friday evening the War Stamp Savings meeting results in the district going over the top in fine shape The quota for the district was $5,500. James Kenny was the speaker and the district subscribed a total of $7,100.

Meredosia Makes Good Record

At the War Savings Stamp meeting held in the Meredosia school house Friday evening $9,645 was subscribed. There already has been subscribed $13,675 making a total of $23,320 The quota was $7,900. The speakers for the evening were Rev. Mr. Jeffers, pastor the the M. E. church and C. P. Hedrick, president of the school board.

At Mound School.

At the Mound school H. E. Kitner presided and the addresses were made by Rev. E. B. Landis and Henry V. Stearns. Subscriptions totalling about $13,300 were taken. This sum in connection with subscriptions already made by residents of the district oversubscribes the total of $14,000 in a very satisfactory way.

Judge W. E. Thomson and Alfred Leake attended the meeting at Blue Grass school Friday evening. The quota for the district was $8,900 and the subscriptions totalled $15,160.

REBEKAH LODGE NO. 13 WILL DO RED CROSS WORK

At the regular meeting of Rebekah lodge No. 13 held Friday evening it was decided to take a more active part in Red Cross work as an organization. Many of the members are already working as individuals but it was deemed best to take up the matter officially, and have members at work all the time.

For this purpose a committee consisting of Nettie Brown, Harriet Haigh and Ida Rayburn was appointed to confer with the management of the Red Cross shop and to arrange for members to do a certain amount of work for the Red Cross each day.

Stars were also pinned on the service flag for Andrew Cobb and Clark Rothwell who have recently entered the service. Miss Ruth McCarty pinned on the star for Andrew Cobb and Walter Brown pinned on the star for Clark Rothwell. The report of Mrs. Brown delegate to the 20th district Rebekah meeting held in Springfield was presented and heard with great interest.

You Can't Rub It Away; Rheumatism is in the Blood

Liniments Will Never Cure

If you are afflicted with rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain, and go after that. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain.

You will never be rid of rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has never had an equal as a blood purifier and scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store, and get on the right treatment today. If you want special medical advice, you can obtain it free by addressing Medical Director, 23 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Now is the Time to Prepare—After That Comes Threshing Time

You should have good tight beds for hauling the grain as we cannot afford to waste any. Our country needs all we can save and a few dollars spent for a good, light-running wagon, with a perfect grain-tight bed, will save money for you as well as conserve the grain we need so badly.

W.S.S. WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

ALL FLOATS HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO PAGEANT

Will Appear in Parade in Chronological Order—One Feature Will be Ox Team Driven by Ezra Rowland.

All floats for the processional pageant to be held July 4, have been assigned. The floats will appear in the parade in chronological order, beginning with the Indians, the first settlers, and ending with scenes of the present day.

T. W. Callihan said last night that one of the features of the pageant will be an ox team owned and driven by Ezra Rowland who resides near Franklin. A quarter of a century ago oxen were a common sight both on the highways and in the fields. In recent years, however, they have disappeared and perhaps few of the present generation have ever seen an ox team.

The coal dealers of the city also have agreed to put a float in the pageant. The local dealers will work as a unit and their float will represent "Tonti and the discovery of coal in Illinois."

A large number of women and girls are working every day under the direction of Miss Grace White making banners, wreaths and other things to be used in the pageant. While much work has been done Mr. Callihan said last night that more women and girls can be used in making banners and doing sewing and other things pertaining to the pageant preparation.

Attention is again called to the necessity of getting the names of all men in the service. The country precincts are responding to this much better than the city and this must be finished several days before the date of the pageant. It also is essential than there be someone to represent each of these men in the parade. It also is desired that a large number of volunteers both girls and large boys offer their services to represent various historic figures in the parade.

Mr. Callihan and Harold J. Johnson expected to go to St. Louis this morning to select costumes and uniforms for the pageant. Matters are shaping up excellently and more details of the various floats will be announced from time to time. All of the floats are in the process of making and some beautiful designs will be shown.

CANTEEN UNIT BEGINS ITS ACTIVE WORK

Splendid ervice Furnished Friday for Morgan County's Departing Soldiers.

Members of the new canteen unit, recently organized under the direction of C. F. Ehnie had the first opportunity for service yesterday and well indeed did they perform their work The young ladies helped with the music at the opera house, then took part in the parade and at the station were very efficient in serving men with coffee and other refreshments. The young women of the unit wore blue canteen aprons of standard type, with red cross on the breast and with headdress of the same color as the aprons and of the approved type. The unit organization is as follows:

Captain—C. Frederick Ehnie.
First lieutenant—Rev. W. E. Collins.
Second lieutenant—Mrs. Clyde Singley.
Mail clerk— Miss Gertrude Ayers.
Supply clerk—Lloyd T. Hamilton.

Members of the unit are Misses Esther Davis, Marion Capps, Anna Bellatti, Louise Gebert, Pauline McMurphy, Helen Graef, Gladys Andre, Lura Wiswell, Hazel Strawn, Willella Miller, Verna Wallace, Helen Allcott, Dorothy Chipchase, Zella Benson, Lucille Crawford, Frances Strawn, Edith Carlson, Fern Haigh, Florence Madden, Mary Sloan, Helen Mathis, Ida Widmayer, Ruth Hackett.

An important part of the unit's work Friday was arranging the generous lunch boxes to be taken by the men on the train. The unit wishes to thank the Mothers association of the third ward, the committee including Mrs. P. A. Todd, Mrs. F. L. Benson and Mrs. A. J. Jones, for especially generous supplies of sandwiches for the lunch boxes. The Waverly Red Cross chapter sent a contribution of $5 to pay for supplies for the lunch boxes and Schrag and Cully donated the coffee. Thanks are also due W. G. Benson for painting two needed signs. Only one half the churches of the city were asked to aid yesterday and the others will be asked for supplies at a later date. Thru the activity of the unit and those who assisted them, it was possible to prepare 290 lunch boxes for the men, each box containing two meat and two jam sandwiches, a boiled egg, peach, banana, pickles and cookies and drinking cups.

WITH THE COLORS

From A Virginia Camp.

Lewis Kennedy writes his friend Mrs. Johnson as follows:

Camp Lee, Virginia,
June 26, 1918.

Dear Mrs. Johnson:-

Being this is a dark and cloudy morning, I thought I would write you a few lines and let you know that I am well and getting along just fine

I have ben transferred from Camp Dix, N. J., to Camp Lee, Va. I left Camp Dix June 5th and arrived at Camp Lee the next afternoon.

We passed thru Washington, D. C., about 7 o'clock in the morning and I could see the Capital building very plainly, as we passed within a few yards of it and also the State and War, and Navy Dept. Buildings. We sure had some fine trip. The Red Cross ladies at Richmond, Va., gave us lemonade, candy, post cards and other things.

Camp Lee is a pretty large place, it is laid out in a horse shoe shape and it is about three or four miles from one end to the other.

I was transfered to Camp Lee to help fill up the 37th Division but was turned down in the over sea examination; otherwise I would have gone with them. Thel left here a few weeks ago and I hear that they were sent to Italy, I sure would have liked to went with them.

Camp Lee is about five miles southeast of Petersburg, Va., so if you look at a big map you will see I am not very far from Norfolk, Va., or Newport News

This camp is located right near where one of the worst battles of the Civil War was fought, (the Battle of the Crater) where more than 10,000 Northern soldiers were killed. Perhaps you have read about it.

The mornings here are very cool and; I guess being so near the coast may account for it. I never saw so many negroes in all my life till I came here. They are about all you see around this part of the country. Over 3,000 of them came to this camp in the last few days and I guess there are over 7,000 in this camp now.

A week ago last Sunday I spent my first 24 hours of Guard duty; I was Sergeant of the Guard and had charge of 16 guards and six prisoners and the guard house; say that was some job.

Five of these prisoners were conscientious objectors and refused to put on the uniforms so they keep them locked up all the time until they do put on the unform.

"How is everything in Jacksonville and the store. I am the only one left here that came from Morgan County so I don't know where I will go next. I won't be able to give you my address as Iam moved from one part of camp to the other and when I do get located I will write again. So please give all the girls my best wishes.

Your Friend,
Lewis Kennedy.

A PATRIOTIC GATHERING HELD

Novel Manner of Securing Red Cross Money at Scottville.

A short time since Dr. J. W. Berryman of Scottville had a sale at his farm in the vicinity of the town. As he had considerable property to dispose of he had four auctioneers and before the sale began one of them named Carter and hailing from Medora, made a very strong and eloquent speech in favor of the country and the war and against the Germans and their friends. He told of the great war now in progress and what it meant to this country; the supreme importance of devoting all we have to the cause. Then he called to his platform four nice little girls and giving them each a corner of a U. S. Flag to hold said to the people standing by,

"All you who love that flag throw a dollar into it for the Red Cross and all who don't love the country and the flag keep your money." Instantly there was a shower of dollars until nearly two hundred had been put in.

The time seemed propitious for more so a man gave an old mare, worn out and crippled and bids were asked. One man bid fifty dollars and gave back the mare to be sold again and that was kept up until $225 had been secured.

The auctioneer wasn't satisfied with this and asked for something else and a man brought in a "never sag" gate. It was bought for $15 and was given back and sold and resold until $65 was realized.

"Let the good work go on; whose next?" and the next was John W. Hettick who tendered a pair of lovely fawns and at once the bidding was spirited and a hundred dollars came from that source.

Then a man in well worn overalls and grimy shirt appeared and said he was as patriotic as anybody but actually had nothing to give or to offer except his hat but of course no one would bid on that so the auctioneer remarked as the hat was not worth bidding on make it so and let it be passed for a few quarters and it was done and seventeen shiners were taken out and the hat was sold then for two dollars.

A widow sent word that had an old mare she would and the boy scouts at once after her and brought her stand. She was old and de and she was good for nothin thebone yard, but they the hat on the strength gift and took in forty doll

Several other things wer up and brought money bu doctor couldn't remember more. He said the crowd extra large but there was of patriotism in it tho he regretted to add that ther present some well to do c who had in them no G blood as far as he knew an gave nothing but it was thus. He said also that th resulted in quite good and the Red Cross money between $2,500 and $3,000

MOUTH SHOWS CHARACTER.

Mouth Breathers Dangerous to Themselves and Others.

SHUT YOUR MOUTH

Do you want to be considered an idiot, or a mentally deficient person? Idiots and mentally defectives generally let their chins drop, and breathe thru their mouths. Men of marked character keep their mouths shut except when they have something worth while to say, or when they are eating.

The mouth breather generally gets enlarged tonsils. The tonsils catch and hold the germs which would normally be caught in the front of the nose and then thrown out at the next breath. The nose of the mouthbreather becomes a garden in which many bacteria may thrive. The mouthbreather's blood is not normally pure, and his mental operations are often clouded thereby. He is more than likely to be somewhat hard of hearing. This intensifies his mental backwardness Germs caught on the tonsil are more likely to poison the system than those caught in the front of the nose, and the mouthbreather is therefore more liable to sickness.

But mouthbreathing is not only harmful for the breather, but he becomes a great menace in the community. Mouthbreathers have a habit of blowing when they talk, and often they puff with slight exertion In thus blowing or puffing they throw out droplets of moisture laden with bacteria. Nature gave man a nose the openings of which point downward. Unless in the act of sneezing any bacteria coming from the nose are driven towards the floor, but bacteria coming out of the mouth of a mouthbreather are thrown out into a stratum of air which others breathe.

THE OLD FLAG OF THE 34TH. A Woman's Story.

"You people, nowadays, need not think you were the only ones who ever worked for the country.

"I remember when we made the flag for the 34th Ill., there at Mrs. Moore's—Mrs. Joshua Moore—how beautiful the new red, white and blue silk looked in the piece.

"We met in the afternoon and worked on it—regular 'regulation' regimental 'colors,' you know. Mrs. Moore she saw to things—she was always doing for others, even tho she was not strong, and made herself sick doing it. Then one of the younger ladies cut the flag out, My but it was pretty! A lot of us girls—(no, I am not so awful old yet!) did the sewing, and we always told the latest any of us had heard from 'the boys,' and yet we sewed right along, for we were in a hurry, as the regiment was going to leave Springfield soon.

"What girls were there Why the Rawlings, Till and Liz and Nett, and Effie Smith, and Julia Duncan, and I don't know who all. Of course Eliza McMackin was there. She stayed with her sister Mrs. Moore. I think Mrs. John McConnell may have helped too; Ed had raised a company for the 34th. But he got an appointment in the Regular Army, and Mabrey Greenwood got his office.

"Well, we worked and worked, and we had awful times along then. It must have been about when Gen. Lyon got killed at Wilson's creek, in Missouri, and we had hardly got over the first Bull Run. I tell you we used to feel awful solemn a good deal of the time, tho we would laugh and talk when we all got together. Still we never knew whose father, or brother, or beau would be killed in the next battle. It's all right to talk about our great strong government now, but then we didn't know how things were coming out, and the 'Secesh,' as we called them then, were saying all sorts of things against Lincoln and Dick Yates and the soldiers. Yes indeed, those were hot old times, those days of 1861.

"Well, we got the flag all done, and it had a splendid yellow fringe, and gold mounted end to the staff, and then the time was for us to take it up to Springfield and give it to the boys.

"You know, as I said, that there was a company raised here for that regiment. The officers—first and last—of the company, were Greenwood, Ike Rawlings, Jim Hindman—he got to be Major—Jim Perkins, of Arcadia, Spence Rawlings, A. S. Crisler and a man named Pratt, from Monroe, wherever that is. Mr. Kirk was the colonel of the regiment, and those fellows didn't quit at the end of three years, either; they "veteranized!"

"Veteranized? What that means they re-enlisted for the rest of the war after their three years were up. Illinois soldiers generally enlisted for three years, unless sooner discharged, but the eastern soldiers many were only for one or two years.

"As I was saying, the time came to give the flag to the soldiers, and a lot of us went up to Springfield to the camp where they were.

"Eliza Mackness was appointed to make the speech. You know her father was Irish, and she sure did talk to the men. She made them swear never to surrender it to the Rebs!

"That was a splendid regiment, and Col. Kirk was one of the finest officers that ever went from Illinois, and he got praised for it by the War Department! He got wounded one or twice, at Murfreesboro and maybe at Shiloh, he was in both battles, but he would not give up. But finally he had to, and he died in 1863. But they had made him a brigadier-general before that.

"To go back to the flag presentation: we saw our boys and gave them that beauitful flag, and they were as proud of it as we had been. But would you believe it? The Rebels got it after all, a Texas regiment, and it never got back to Illinois till Roosevelt was president, and they sent it back, and the dear old torn flag is up in Memorial Hall at Springfield now.

"Yes, yes! Lots of boys fell for it. Ed McConnell said that, at Stone River—Murfreesboro—he, in the Regulars, you know, met the 34th as they were all going into the battle; and he went along with Captain Greenwood a while, and then they shook hands and parted, and Mr. Greenwood was killed in just a little while. Oh, it was awful! That's about all I know about it, but it was a beautiful flag, with all its thirty one stars! We didn't leave one out for the Southern Confederacy!"

DESCRIBE BOMBING OF GERMAN SUBMARINE

London, June — The story of the bombing of a German submarine by an English seaplane is told in the papers here. The encounter occurred in very stormy weather and under the most adverse conditions. Two submarines were sighted cruising about a mile apart and the seaplane flew down to attack.

One of the submarines submerged immediately to a safe depth, but the other was still partly above the surface when the seaplane dropped two bombs. One fell directly astern of the conning tower, the other in the water alongside. A great column of water was thrown into the air, the stern of the U-boat rose out of the water, then the enemy craft slowly turned over on her side and disappeared.

ATTITUDE OF ALIENS IN U. S. DEFINED

Man Who Took Out Naturalization Papers So as to Volunteer in the American Army Gives His Opinion of Germany.

With the American Army in France, June — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The attiude of thousands of aliens in the United States who have taken out their first naturalization papers so as to volunteer in the American army probably is defined in a letter written by an enlisted man in the American Air Service to his relative in a Swiss city where this new American was born.

"Was it not my duty to aid in this crisis?" he asked. "There can be only one answer for me. The world would not be worth living in if the Germans should be conquerors."

Friends in Switzerland of this volunteer had endeavored to induce him to leave the American army and had enlisted the influence of the Swiss diplomatic service to obtain his discharge. Learning of this, the volunteer wrote to a Swiss diplomat, saying:

"Since I have been in the service, I have become firmly convinced that I have done the best thing I could and I have no intention of availing myself of your offer." (To obtain a discharge). Expressing to his Swiss friend his convictions concerning his resolution to fight for America the volunteer wrote:

"I feel that the United States is fighting for a good cause in opposing the unscrupulous methods of warfare of the Germans. Up to a short time ago I felt, while sympathizing with the Americans, it was not my war or my business to take an active part.

"Ever since my arrival in this country (America) I have been well treated, I have had the benefit of all the chances offered me and was considered the equal of everybody. Was it therefore, not my duty to lend my aid in this crisis, if it was my intention to remain permanently in this country; having thought that I was fighting for a good cause.

"There must be something to be said on each side, but one comes to this question: Whom would you like to have win? There can be only one answer for me. And, to judge by the manner in which the Germans have conducted the war up to the present time, one can say and believe that the world is not worth living in if they should be the conquerors.

"In the opinion of the people of this country and in my opinion, Germany is governed by a clan possessed of an unconceivable desire to conquer, or to put it better, to govern the world, and, in order to obtain this object its people will stop at nothing. They violate the neutrality of countries like Belgium, they massacre the noncombatants, they conduct the most barbarous submarine warfare, sink unarmed merchant vessels and neutral vessels, fight behind the lines of their armies thru espionage, lying and intrigue.

"This is no way to fight and we will show them what 'Kultur' means when given the true meaning of this word."

ISSUES WARNING TO WAR PROFITEERS.

Manchester, England, June 24.—J. R. Clynes, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food in the course of a speech recently again warned profiteers against taking advantage of the recent shortage of food. Referring to the new act that had been passed for punishing the profiteer, Mr. Clynes said he was afraid that the principle would have to be extended to some persons who had shown themselves to be gluttons and, by deception and fraud, had secured more than their share of food coupons.

Measures to protect the interests of women workers occupy a prominent place in the after the war program formulated by the British Labor Party.

SOX DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH ST. LOUIS

Poor Base Running Loses First Game—Benz Has Easy Time in Second—New York Defeats Athletics — Other American League Games.

Chicago, June 28.—Jimmy Burke who succeeded Fielder Jones as manager of the St. Louis club, made his debut today by dividing a double header with Chicago, winning the first game 3 to 1 after 11 innings, but losing the second 2 to 6. Poor base running by Murphy, who left third base before a catch was made by Hendryx in the ninth inning of the first game cost the locals the contest. The visitors then bunched hits in the eleventh and won. Davenport was hit opportunly behind some erratic fielding and Benz had an easy time winning the second game. Risberg was hit by a pitched ball in the second contest and he became so angry that he threw his bat in the direction of the home players bench. The throw was high and the bat narrowly missed hitting two army officers who were seated in a box. Risberg then hurried to the officers and apologized for his act. The score:

REMARKABLE SCENES WITNESSED IN DUBLIN

Sinn Fein Sympathizers Cheer German Interned Prisoners—Considerable Element in Irish Cities Ready to Cry "Up the Hun" at Every Opportunity.

Dublin, June — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—"Ireland is not pro-German," declare all the Irish leaders, but there is a considerable element in Dublin, Cork, and other Irish cities, that is ready to cry "Up the Hun" at every opportunity.

During the week following the arrest of De Valera and the other Sinn Fein leaders, the strains of the "Watch on the Rhine" were frequently heard on Dublin streets, sung by small crowds of Sinn Fein sympathizers. It has been frequently recorded that Irish hoodlums at the moving picture theaters have hissed pictures of British and American soldiers and sailors, and a letter in a Dublin newspaper this week states that a moving picture audience cheered a picture of the medal cast by the Germans to commemorate the sinking of the Lusitania.

One of the most remarkable scenes which the Associated Press correspondent witnessed in Dublin was the enthusiastic cheering of a ship-load of German interned prisoners, who were being taken from a camp in Ireland to a camp on the Isle of Man. A crowd of several hundred persons, mostly wearing Sinn Fein colors and waving Sinn Fein flags, stood on the quay and sang the Sinn Fein "Soldiers' Song" to the departing prisoners. Many of the members of the crowd were relatives by marriage of the interned aliens.

A Strong Military Force.

The prisoners were practically the entire population of a camp established early in the war at Oldcastle, Ireland for German civilian prisoners. They were 450 in number, and were embarked from a Dublin dock on a Sunday morning. From an early hour their Irish friends began gathering along both sides of the river. A strong military force was present and took complete possession of the quay alongside which the steamer was berthed.

Before the special train carrying the prisoners arrived at the dock; there appeared a freight train of ten cars, containing the "baggage" of the Germans. This amounted to ten car-loads of the most unusual baggage that was ever handled on the bank of the River Liffey. There were pianos, double-bass violins, and the whole set of instruments for the camp band; there were sailors' sea trunks of great variety; there was a grandfather clock of huge proportions, and a complete set of theatrical "properties" and stage scenery, which told of entertainments past or for future production.

Khaki-clad dockmen perspired over the job of arranging these mountains of baggage into slings, hoisting them on board the steamer, and stowing the stuff away in the hold.

The train with the German and Austrian travellers arrived in the station across the road from the river, and was cheered by the crowd outside the gates. Handkerchiefs were waved by the women, and the prisoners waved back out of the train windows.

Cheered as Boat Started.

Several times the crowd made a rush towards the quayside, but the military and police allowed no entrance to the dock sheds and the crowd of onlookers finally took up positions on top of lumber piles down the river wall, where the boat could be seen and cheered as it started down the river.

Sinn Fein scarfs and ribbons were worn by most of the women in the crowd. A similar crowd quickly collected on the south wall, across the river, where the men and women sang over and over the Sinn Fein song, and cheered themselves hoarse as the deportees were brought onto the decks of the steamer.

Then suddenly the strains of a brass band, playing a medley of German airs, floated out on the water. It was the aliens' camp band in action. As they played the boat started, cheers were raised again, the steamer gained headway, the cheering died down and the crowds began to disperse. The soldiers and police on the docks filed back to their barracks and the festivities were over.

Princeton, N. J., June 24.—Alumni and students of Princeton University in the days to come are likely to point with pride to the record of service made by the university in the present great war. After sending several thousand undergraduates, alumni, faculty members, trustees and other officials to the war, Old Nassau today becomes a "military college." A three-year course of training and instruction approved by the General Staff of the United States army was inaugurated at the university this morning. The students attending the course will be under strict military discipline and eat and sleep like soldiers in barracks instead of residing in their more comfortable domitories.

GOLD MEDAL AWARDED TO FRENCH AVIATOR.

Paris, June — The foreign service committee of the Aero club of America has awarded to Lieutenant Jean Chaput, who was one of the leading aces of the French flying corps, the gold medal of the organization. Lieutenant Caput, who had brought down "drachen" or German "sausage" balloon, was killed in action recently. The medal has been forwarded to his family.

The foreign service committee, whose headquarters are here, have awarded thirty two medals altogether; fourteen to Americans; twelve to Frenchmen; two to Italians; one to a Belgian; two to Britishers, and one to a Canadian.

GREECE WILL SEE IT THRU.

New York, June 27.—George Rouesos, minister plenipotentiary of Greece to the United States speaking tonight at a celebration of Greece's entrance into the war a year ago said that if the allies had understood the situation in the Orient in 1914 and had accepted assistance offered by the Greek government before the battle of the Marne they might have averted many disasters. He said since entering the war Greece had sacrificed thousands of her sons "for triumph of the common ideal" and is determined to "see the struggle thru."

"DRAG, DRAG — AND SUFFER

Was All I Did," Says Dallas Lady, Who Gives Cardui Credit for Her Being Well and Strong Today

Dallas, Texas.—"It is hard to express the gratitude I feel for the medicine that saved my life," says Mrs. S. W. Bergen, of 2609 Lake Ave., "That is what Cardui did and I would like for others to know, as the few words I say may save a lot of suffering for some one. . . .

I suffered everything one can suffer and live. My back hurt, my head, my sides . . . a weak, nervous hurting all over . . . . . Dray, drag and suffer, it was all I did. No rest and very little sleep or appetite.

I began to have spells . . . One night . . . I told my husband I would try Cardui. It had been recommended to me. I begun it and it did do me good. It saved my life, I verily believe.

I began to improve. I grew strong . . . I am a strong and well woman today. I can't say too much for Cardui. I praise Cardui and will praise it as long as I live.

Whenever I feel the need of a tonic, I send and get a bottle of Cardui and it helps me, seems to be what I need."

Cardui may be what you need. Try Cardui. It's a mild, medicinal female tonic, that has helped many thousands of women in the past 40 years. It should help you. At all druggists.

What to Do When Backache Comes On

"Foley Kidney Pills have done me more good than $150.00 worth of other medicine," writes Chas. N. Fox, Nimrod, N. Y.

When backache comes on, and it seems as if you can't stand the pain and pressure in the small of your back and sides, do not feel that you must continue to suffer, but get a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills and begin taking them. They usually help from the very first doses.

It is worth a good deal to you to know that Foley Kidney Pills give you just what your system needs to repair the weak sick kidneys. It is their inability to do their work properly that causes your pain and misery. Foley Kidney Pills lend to middle-aged and elderly people the spryness and elasticity of youth. They take away the cause of backache, stiff and aching joints, rheumatic pains and annoying bladder and urinary troubles. Try them today.—Adv.

USING TRACTORS FOR WHEAT HARVESTING

A. L. McClay Uses Three Tractors in Cutting 950 Acres of Wheat in Hillview District—Crops Estimated Value is $76,000—Other White Hall News.

White Hall, June 28.—A most notable example of wheat harvest is found in the Hillview Drainage and Levee Districth, where A. L. McClay, already recognized as the leading apple grower of Illinois, is cutting 950 acres of wheat from land purchased last year from Louis Lowenstein. Eleven binders have been in operation, nine of them to three tractors. Each tractor pulling three binders cuts a swath 96 feet in width. Estimating that the 950 acres will average 40 bushels to the acre, a conservative estimate, the crop will bring Mr. McClay $76,000. Mr. McClay's entry into general farming operations shows that he has figured well and is making good. He has promise of becoming the biggest agriculturist in this part of the state, as he is now a horticulturist.

No section present harvesting operations to better advantage than in the reclaimed area along the Illinois river in Greene county, west of White Hall. There are the Fairbanks, the Hillview and the Hartwell districts, and nowhere are finer crops being grown than in the American "Valley of the Nile." Additional pumping facilities are being installed in the plant of the Hillview Drainage and Levee District by the addition of a 60-inch pump. The present pumping capacity of the plant is 90,000,000 gallons per day, and this capacity will be increased to 230,000,000 gallons per day, figured against a maximum head of 17 feet.

W. M. Cobett, L. S. Banks and J. L. Marquette, all of Kansas City, visited the harvest fields of the Illinois valley Wednesday.

Miss Lucy Baker has arrived from Decatur for the summer vacation from duty as a pedagogian.

Dr. H. H. Seely and Simon Vanderheyden were in Kansas City this week, the latter buying a load of feeding cattle.

The residence of George A. Raffety on East Bridgeport street has undergone a thoro overhauling that adds to the lighting facilities as well as to the appearance of the building, and the work is assuming tangible form and bringing out the structure as the most delightful residence place of that neighborhood.

F. D. Vanderheyden left for Kansas City Wednesday night.

Lee Rowland went to Jacksonville Wednesday on one of his rounds of travel as a commercial representative of a gents' furnishing goods house.

Mrs. A. E. Meisenbach and son Edward are expected from St. Louis Saturday. The son will be left at Pearl, Pike county, for the summer while Mrs. Meisenbach is at Round Lake, N. Y., for where she will leave next week.

F. V. Pear— writing from Galesburg, shows that he is kept quite busy with band and general musical affairs in addition to being foreman of the press room of the Galesburg Republican-Register.

L. F. Hitte was down from Jacksonville a few days this week.

FIRES ON THE FARMS.

Precautionary Work is Specially Important at This Time.

In this campaign to increase the food supply of the country and of the world, conservation is quite as important as production. The grain and meat and other foodstuffs now here must be preserved from wasteful destruction while additional supplies are being produced. Fires destroy millions of bushels of grain and thousands of heads of cattle each year, and it is the duty of the patriotic citizen to reduce this preventable and criminal waste by every means in his power.

An important responsibility rests upon the farmer in this matter. The Council of National Defense, working thru the State Councils and the fire marshals, and with the invaluable co-operation of the inspectors of the stock and mutual fire insurance companies, is making an inspection of all the grain elevators, flour mills, packing plants and food warehouse of the country, with a view to reducing the hazards of fire. In this the co-operation of the owners is expected, and is being given, as a patriote duty in this time of national crisis. But this force of inspectors cannot go out of the cities and towns, and yet there is an enormous amount of foodstuffs on the farms which it is equally important to protect against the hazards of fire. This work is up to the farmer himself, and in doing it he is not only protecting his own property and family, but is doing his bit in the vitally important work of conserving the food supplies of the world.

The great majority of the fires are due to carelessness, and under existing conditions carelessness is a crime. The ordinary common-sense precautions are all that is necessary. Be careful about smoking, matches and lights, remember the hazards of gasoline, keep a barrel of water or a box of sand ready for emergencies, have your barns properly rodded against lightning, clean up the rubbish in which a fire is likely to start, and you will be doing your share as a patriotic citizen in a time of national need.

BIDS FOR COAL

The city of Jacksonville will receive bids for supplying the city with coal for the year beginning August 11, 1918. For the light plant bids are asked on 1¼ inch screenings; for the pumping station on mine run, 3 inch and 6 inch lump. Bids are also asked on mine run, 3 inch and 6 inch lump for storage purposes. The city council reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which will be received until 10 a. m., Monday, July 1

R. L. Pyatt, City Clerk.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION NOTES.

Summer and the supply of fruits and vegetables gives us an opportunity to conserve in an easy, economical way and at the same time benefit our health. Your active and intelligent cooperation thus far is fully and gratefully appreciated, but even greater and more concentrated effort is demanded of all of us.

It is not patriotic to use canned food when fresh can be had. For instance; now is the time to can, dry or otherwise preserve vegetables and fruits. On the other hand, now is the time to consume plentifully all vegetables and fruits and to can only that which we do not immediately need. We ask you to urge the consumption of all vegetables and fruits while they are fresh! thus promoting health while saving labor and expense of canning. If we follow this rule closely as individuals and communities, we are saving transportation and permitting greater quantities of the staples to be sent to our troops and our Allies.

Where possible, can, preserve and dry for all the needs of your own family. Draw as little as may be upon merchandised stock of such goods. Urge educational displays on these lines in retail merchant show windows and publicity in every possible way thru the Press and otherwise. Ask the leaders of your local Women's Organizations to bring this before their members and urge them to co-operate.

All, who can possible use them, should write to the United States Department of Agriculture, Division of Publications, Washington, D. C., for the following bulletins:

No. 871. Fresh Fruits and Vegetables as Conservers of other Staple Foods.

No. 839. Home Canning by the One-Period Cold-Pack Method.

No. 841. Home and Community Drying of Fruits and Vegetables.

No. 853. Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables.

They will be sent free of postage or any other charge.

Let us close our eyes for no single moment of mid-summer indolence. That we should fail to carry the burden which the World War has forced upon us is inconceivable, for we have our program and know that we can and must carry it out.

HOT WAVE MAKES NEW ADVANCES IN CORN

CHICAGO, June 28.—New advances in corn prices resulted today chiefly from prospective spread of the hot wave and from bullish reports about the crop outlook southwest and west. The market closed nervous, 1⅜ to 2⅛c net higher with July $1.48½ to $1.48⅝ and August $1.50⅞ to $1.51.

Oats finished ⅝@⅞c to 2c up and provisions at a rise of 5c to 20c.

Buying of corn was active and general from start to finish. A comprehensive private report stressing unfavorable aspects of the crop in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska gave further stimulus to bulls and opinions that the rural corn movement would soon dwindle on preference for wheat.

Oats a scended with corn and influenced by adverse crop reports.

Strength of hogs and grain lifted provisions.

STOCK MARKET DULL

NEW YORK, June 28.—The dull stock market today was ascribed to the Russian situation which were so bewildering as to limit trading to professionals.

Prices occassionally becoming heavy on pressure against investment rails and recognized industrials were not affected by any general improvement. United States steel closed at a loss of almost a point. Related shares were influenced by sluggishness of steel and the market as a whole lacked leadership or bullish initiative. Sales 435,000 shares.

Bonds were irregular mainly as a result of variations of small fractions in the foreign group. Total sales (par value) $8,350,000.

DUN'S REPORT

NEW YORK, June 28.—Dun's Review tomorrow wil. say:

"While business interests have been quick to adapt themselves to frequent and radical economic changes of the war period caution prevails in many quarters not alone from doubts on readjustments, but from disposition to await more exact knowledge of governmental necessities, and steadily increasing scarcity of supplies. There is no industry or trade of importance not now dominated by the government and there is no longer a question of how much civilian business is offering, but of how much may be consummated without interference with federal requirements.

MANY HONORED MEMORY OF DR. R. B. WILSON

Funeral Services for Deceased Minister Held at State Street Church—Remains Taken to Cedarville, Ohio.

Funeral services conducted for Rev. R. B. Wilson at State Street Presbyterian church Friday morning were of a simple but very impressive kind. The auditorium was completely filled with relatives and friends of the deceased pastor, many being in attendance from a distance. Music for the occasion was furnished by the choir of the church, composed of Mrs. Barr Brown, Jr., Mrs. T. P. Carter, J. L. Johnson and W. E Day. Among the musical numbers were two favorite hymns of the deceased "Abide With Me" and "Lead Kindly Light."

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, the pulpit being completely covered by these tributes of loving friends. The remains were escorted to the church by the Jacksonville Ministerial association, the session, trustees and deacons of State Street church, and the officers of Westminster church.

Included in the list of those from a distance in attendance at the funeral services were Rev. Robert Taylor of Greenview; Rev. M. G. Montgomery of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Clay Lathom, Mrs. C. W Grassel and Miss Mary Edwards of Hillsboro.

Rev. E. B. Landis, pastor of Westminster church, read the scriptural passages which contained much of solace and hope for the sorrowing ones.

Ministers Present Resolutions

Rev. M. L. Pontius, speaking for the Ministerial association of Jacksonville, presented the formal resolutions of that body and said in part: "It makes no difference when death comes, death is always unwelcome. As a representative of the Ministerial association I refer to the tragic death of our beloved brother. He died in the noon-time of life's activities; died of a preventable disease. His death should stir every right thinking citizen to a new sense of his civic responsibility. As co-workers with him, we bring to the family our heartfelt sympathy, and the tenderest of all to bereaved children who know not of their father's going. To the members of the family we bring our profoundest sympathy, and pray that the life of this man may symbolize life's everlasting hope and the doctrine of the soul's immortality.

"To the members of State Street Presbyterian church we bring our deep sympathy. We suggest because your leader has fallen that each of you be more faithful in your duty to your church, that each of you may do more that the church may take its place in the life of this community.

"The Old Testament is a cry and a wail: 'If a man die shall he live again?' But the New Testament has the assurance— 'I am the resurrection and the life.' Brother Wilson's life was unfinished. He was called in the noontime of service. No matter when death comes to us. we always feel life unfinished. But we bring to all this spirit of consolation. Brother Wilson is not dead. He has just begun to live."

Session State Street Church.

Whereas, It hath pleased Almighty God in his Allwise Providence to call Rev. R. B. Wilson from this life to his final reward, therefore be it resolved:

That the Jacksonville Ministerial Association extend to Mrs. Wilson, Dorothy and Robert, and other members of the family and the State Street Presbyterian church, our profound sympathy.

That we have recognized and appreciated the fraternal relation Rev. R. B. Wilson has sustained to the Ministerial Association. We have ever found him to be a wholehearted, congenial, and companionable fellow-laborer and we feel that his going is a personal loss to all.

Our relation to him as ministers bears testimony that his relationship with all of his fellow citizens has been on the basis of Christian Brotherhood.

In all the movements for community betterment he has been one of the leaders. As an American citizen he loyally gave himself unsparingly to the service of his country in the hour of its crisis.

While we have not thought of him as one whose work was finished we recognize that his work has been of a superior quality and that the Kingdom of God has been made richer by his labors.

Church Officials' Tribute

Dr. C. C. Cochran next for the session of State Street church read the following resolutions adopted by that body:

The State Street Presbyterian church is suddenly and sadly bereaved. In the providence of All mighty God, our Pastor, Rev. Robert B. Wilson, D. D., has been called from us by death. Recognizing that Our Heavenly Father is too wise to err and too kind to be unjust, we bow in humble submission to his Divine will.

When we were seeking for a pastor we extended a call to Dr. Wilson, who after accepting the call, entered so completely into all the work of the church and met so fully the requirements of a pastor, within the brief period that he was with us, that his departure is a distinct loss to the church as well as to the community. His administration was wise. His preaching was evangelistic and spiritual, and his social and pastoral work was of the highest order. We appreciate him for his sterling character, his brotherly relations with his fellow pastors, and his thorough sympathy and earnestness with his general work; not only of our own denomination, but with the church at large.

In this bereavement, our session loses an impartial moderator, a wise counselor,, and a safe leader.

In times of sorrow or sickness he was always present with a prayer, a word of sympathy and a helping hand.

We as members of the session also recognize the great worth of Mrs. Wilson, and their children in the family and social life of the church and city. Mrs. Wilson was ever ready to answer to the calls from the church along any of its missionary or social lines. She will be greatly missed.

Finally our brief fellowship with Dr. Wilson as our preacher, Pastor leader, friend and brother has been so cordial and intimate, we venture to say, he would not have us linger long at the shrine of grief. He would urge us forward in our work as a church, and his spirit would be troubled if our tears should dim the vision of our task, our sudden sorrow weaken our resolves, or our sadness slacken our endeavor.

Beloved Pastor! All Hail! And Farewell! The unfinished task becomes ours. To it we give a renewed consecration, and shall strive to so "abound in the work of the Lord," that your labor for us shall not have been in vain.— you are still ours in sacred memory; ours in benign influence. Ever ours until the break of day and the shadows flee away.

Brethren:—Of such are the impressions of the Session of State Street Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Walter E. Spoonts, a close and intimate friend of Dr. Wilson's took for his text the tenth verse of the second chapter of Micah, "Arise ye and depart; for this is not your rest." Dr. Spoonts said in part:

Sermon by Dr. Spoonts

As a close friend I come to say a few words of comfort and hope today. Come to mingle my tears with the members of this church and congregation. I come, true to the memory of many conversations with Brother Wilson, as we walked and talked in the service of God. He often said this was not a time for eulogy but of service to the living. He has gone, but he will never be forgotten. I want to say that I am a better man for my association with him.

My text, "Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest." In the first place we are reluctant to admit that this is not our rest. Who doesn't act as if this world is all there is and that this is our place of rest. God had warned us this is not the case. We calculate on rest and pleasure and we meet grief and disappointment . He, our brother, was true to every task. The work that he has laid down, remains for you and me to finish.

Who has a just estimate of human life? This is seldom attained but by cruel experience. "This is not our rest. There remaineth therefore a rest for the people of God." Got never intended that this life should be our rest. We must dry our tears and depart to our work. To the brother, who is the only relative able to be present at this sad service we bring this consolation: "In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you."

Happiness is a universal search for the human race. It is a mistake to search for happiness for it is coincident with human duty. There was no happier man than our brother. He was happy and cheerful always because in the path of duty. The things of this world are too cheap to make us rich. They are too low to raise us up while we are pressing on our toilsome way Brother Wilson has crossed the threshold into that greater life. Now he knows all. Every broken hope, every withered flower, every open grave testifies this is not our rest. Here our desires are never met. There, is complete fulfillment.

Here our affections are never fully satisfied, there they are completely fulfilled. A word of comfort and good cheer must be given to all the sorrowing ones. Our religion teaches us "there remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God." We must trust as our brother did.

Our fears of death make us want to linger. We try to forget it. We must stop our busy life and consider. A few weeks ago in the joy of the old home, surrounded by his dearly loved mother, and other relatives, he had an honor conferred on him by his college. Little did they think as the two brothers stood together to receive the degree they had so nobly earned that this was an anointing for a higher life. I praise God, thru our tears today for my close love for my brother. The command, "Arise, depart," comes from a higher authority. He who gives it has power to enforce it. What prepares us for eternity tends to promote our happiness in time. Because he was prepared for ternity, he was happiness personified here. What makes the future glorious, makes the present sweet. And men and women who make this time sweeter, make eternity sure and safe. He lives a life of happy consciousness of duty done, made sweet by preparing for the future life.

In the final words, there is a command which it is our duty and to our interest to obey— Arise and depart. Not only is it my duty and to my interest; it is a great duty because the command comes from One Who has the highest interest in my life and in yours; who has the highest interest in the life of our brother; who knows us better than we know ourselves; and, thank God this morning, loves us better than we love ourselves. He who gives the command has in His hands the means of enforcing it. Arise ye and depart, for this is not your rest. It is to our interest to obey the command because whatever prepares us for eternity, tendsto propiness here. I wish I might send home the thought, as I remember the cheerful, happy life of this, my brother. It reminds me of the fact that whatever prepares us for eternity, tends to promote our happiness in time. Because he was happy for eternity, his happiness here was known. Godliness tends toward perfectness in all things. Whatever makes the future glorious, makes the present sweet. I stop; I want you to think of that—whatever makes the future glorious, makes the present sweet. If you want to have, as he had, the sweetest experience of this life, let me beg you in the name of our brother, make the future glorious in faith in the Son of the Living God. The men and women in this old world who make their lives sweeter and happier, are the men and women who make the future glorious in faith in the Living Christ.

It is part of the law of our being that happiness must be the same in both worlds, in principle. I take it that the real happiness of this life is the same in principle as that of the heavenly life that is to come. That is the reason tha I take up the happiness of our brother, who went everywhere spreading sunshine, spreading a happy gospel, because of the fact that whatever made the future glorious, made this life below more complete.

Finally, because prepared or unprepared, there is no resisting the summons when it comes. With all the skill of doctors and all the care of nurses and the sympathy of the church that loved him, and with everything that could be done, there was no resisting the summons. I want to commend you as a church for your davotion to this pastor— not only before the community, but before God. The tie is broken now and we are all sad this morning. The silver cord is broken, and I shall sing no more as now; but oh, the joy when I shall wake within the Palace of the King."

At the close of the sermon, prayer was offered by Dr. F. M. Rule. It was announced that the casket would remain in the church until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and that then the funeral party would start to Cedarville, O. Dr. J. J. Wilson, brother of the deceased, and Felix E. Farrell, representing the church officers, left on the Alton train for St. Louis. Reference was made several times during the service to the particularly sad fact that the wife and two children of the deceased had not been in condition to even know of their father's death. So at this time the people of State Street church feel in a special way their bereavement, and the sympathy of the entire community will go to the members of the stricken family.

It is said that many Russian women, formerly of the nobility, have been reduced to selling newspapers in the streets.

BRITISH ARMY SCHOOL TRAINS U. S. BOYS

Depressing Effects of Fighting Education Offset by Compound of Gardening and Pets—Americans Keen to Learn and Quick to Absorb.

Headquarters of the American Troops with the British Army in France, June 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—American boys in the war zone learning from British officers and soldiers what the war has taught in the way of battle tactics are getting an antidote for the mental effects of their fighting education. This is offset by a compound of gardening and pets.

"It is not a good thing for these boys that their minds be centered solely on stabbing, shooting and throttling," said a young colonel of the British army to the correspondent of the Associated Press today. This officer, who won his promotion at a little over thirty by gallant conduct at Loos and other places where the Black Watch distinguished itself, now commands one of the British army schools where musketry, machine-gun fire, the use of the bayonet and jiujitsu are taught.

He pointed to an American boy who was industriously spading a future potato patch. "This is how we try to lighten their thoughts" he added.

A New Zealand band was playing lively airs on the green, a litter of pigs was squealing an accompaniment from a sty hidden behind a thicket and just around the corner hens were clucking to their broods from an enclosure alongside which was a pen of highly bred rabbits. Meanwhile two pet dogs barked in answer to the rattle of machine guns from the ranges where newly arrived allies were trying their marksmanship.

The men who were not shooting, cultivating ground already sown or preparing for further seeding were trimming the lawn or tending flower beds. There is everything here to suggest the opposite of war.

The commanding officer who happens to be one of the men under whom the regretted Johnny Poe served would say little of the work of his pupils with the bayonet and the gun further than that the American boys were keen to learn and quick to absorb. The fighting education he left to his instructors.

This policy prevails at other British schools of the same character. Some of them add beekeeping to their program. All of them have their pets and most of them their gardens. All of them will give their American pupils much to relieve the depressing effects of continual thoughts of bloodshed.

AMERICA AIDS IN EUROPE'S FUEL PROBLEM

Verona, Italy, June — That America's economic help to Europe is beginning to count, is shown by the fact that coal has become relatively less scarce again after a long period of stringency and railway trains are again able to run sharply on time on the trunk lines across northern Italy. This is a most favorable turn of the scales on a product vital to Italian transportation and industry.

Producing no coal at home, Italy's stock in the past has been drawn from England and France, but with the French and Belgian coal fields invaded by the enemy, and the difficulties of transportation, coal has been sparing steadily until it was practically out of use for domestic purposes, and all the wheels of industry and transportation were slackened. Railways have felt the stringency severely, with trains delayed from lack of fuel. All this has been materially improved of late. British and French coal has been the main source of relief, under the general plan of mutual distribution among the allies, but the large contribution of American coal to the general stock of Europe, has materially helped to solve the coal problem on this side and start the wheels going regularly again.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FOR AGRICULTURISTS

National Food Survey July 1.

The third National War Emergency Food Survey will be taken as of July 1, 1918, of stocks of food in hands of dealers and manufacturers. Some 600,000 blank schedules are being out by mail and it is expected that they will be in the hands of the reporting concerns by July 1. Completed schedules are to be mailed to the Chief of the Bureau of Markets within three days after they are received.

Tells How to Provide Farm Bins for Wheat.

Farmers in sections where the acreage of wheat is unusually large are urged by the Department of Agriculture to provide enough bins on the farm to take care of their wheat when threshed. This is said to be necessary to save the wheat that will probably pile up in certain localities, because the large crop is likely to put a heavy strain on storage elevators and transportation systems. The wheat should be stored in bins on the farm, according to the Bureau of Markets, which has issued a circular containing plans and drawings for a portable bin that can be quickly built. Copies of this circular have been distributed to county agents thruout the large wheat producing sections.

Freeing Herds of Tuberculosis.

One hundred and seventy-one herds, representing 6,250 cattle, were qualified June 1 for the accredited list of pure-bred herds of cattle free from tuberculosis which the Department of Agricultue is developing to insure disease-free sources of pure-bred stocks. In order to have his herd accredited the owner must comply with uniform rules approved by the United States Department of Agriculture and adopted by nearly all of the States, which require that every animal pass at least two successful annual tuberculin tests. In addition to the number of herds mentioned, more than 600 others have passed one successful test in preparation for accrediting. One of the many advantages of having accredited herds, which is proving popular with breeders, is that the owner may make interstate shipments of animals accompanied by a certificate at any time within one year without subjecting the animals to further tuberculin tests.

Labor-Saving Wheat Harvester to be Used in Northwest.

One thousand improved wheat-harvesting machines, known as combines, will be used in Washington State and other States of the Northwest this year, according to farm-help specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and will effect a great saving in labor. These machines, which cut the heads from wheat and thresh the grain as they travel across the field, can be operated by two persons and each machine will harvest from 350 to 400 acres of wheat during a season. They are marked labor savers over the old type combine which required from 15 to 20 men.

Potato Campaign Increases Sales and Lowers Prices.

A recent week's potato campaign conducted in Pocatello, Idaho, under the supervision of the county home-demonstration agent of the Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural college, resulted in large increased consumption of potatoes. All grocers reported a great increase in potato sales thruout the week, one reporting 10,000 pounds increase, another 8,000 pounds and a third 1,500 pounds. Competition was so great that the price was reduced from $1 a hundred at the beginning of the week to 65 cents at the close.

Firemen Help Home-Demonstration Agent Sell Milk.

Three successful milk depots have been established at fire stations in New Haven, Connecticut, by the city home-demonstration agent of the department of Agriculture and the State agricultural college. The fire stations make clean, central places where plenty of volunteer help is available for handling the milk. Bottled skim milk from two large dairies cutside the city is sold at five cents a quart. The stations are open during the noon hour with two women volunteers on duty at each one to superintend the sales. Children stop for the milk on their way home from school. The firemen cooperate in every way. They take full charge of setting up the temporary counters and lifting the heavy crates of bottles as well as in keeping the children in line and helping with the sales.

Girls and Women to Harvest Fruit

More than 1,000 girls in Oregon cities have been interested in light farm work by farm-help specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and are now being placed in the fruit districts of the state to assist in picking berries and fruit. In some cases these girls and women receive training in grading and in packing fruit and have shown that they are more efficient helpers in this line of work than men. Many of the groewrs are providing tents as quarters for the women.

Women Produce Sugar and Starch at Home.

Women in Uinta County, Utah, are going to make sugar at home. The great interest taken in sugar beet production for sirups by the women of that county has led to the planting of from 75 to 100 pounds of sugar beet seed. This is the direct result of the work of the county home demonstration agent who has demonstrated the use and making of the sirup to each of the fifteen organizations in the county with whom she works. The women have also made between 2,000 and 2,500 pounds of potato starch, averaging 25 pounds to 4 bushels of potatoes. This means the saving of 400 bushels of potatoes that otherwise would have been wasted.

Farm-Labor Meeting in Portland.

Means of securing helpers to harvest the wheat and fruit crops in the Northwestern States have been worked out at a meeting in Portland, Oregon, which was the second of a series of farm-labor meetings called by the United States Department of Agriculture. The meeting was attended by representatives of the State Councils of Defense, State Departments of Labor and various city organizations. Prof. G. I. Christie, Assistant to the Secretary, and Dr. E. V. Wilcox, of the Office of Farm Management were the representatives of the Department of Agriculture. Plans were made whereby city organizations will secure lists of city residents who have had farm experience and who are willing to devote at least a part of their vacations to farm labor when they are needed. The "fight or work" program is being carried out in the Northwest. Pool rooms have been closed and all idlers and persons doing unimportant work are being set at useful occupations, thus relieving the labor situation both in cities and rural districts.

Licenses Required for Stockyards and Live-Stock Dealers.

A Federal license by every commercial stockyard in the country which is to continue in business after July 25, 1918, and by all commission merchants and dealers in live stock in connection with stockyards, is required by a proclamation issued by the President. The licensing proclamation is one of a series issued by the President, under authority of the Food Control Act of last August, bringing the dealing in necessities under the control of the Federal Government.

CONDENSED WINE AS TONNAGE SAVER.

Paris, June — "Condensed wine" is promised by Food Minister Boret as one of his measures for saving tonnage. There is a large supply of wine in Algeria, but difficulties of transport prevent bringing it to France. The Minister appealed to the scientific world and a method has been discovered of reducing these wines to a sort of honey which only needs diluting to bring it back to its previous state. The process is still in the laboratory stage but the Minister is assured of its practical realization and expects to make an economy of four-fifths of the freight which would be necessary if these wines were shipped in barrels.
